

skyriss

SECURITIES LTD

Risk Disclosure

Trading on margins carries a high level of risk to your capital, and you may lose more than your initial deposit. We strongly advise you to read this full risk warning before opening an account with Skyriiss Securities LTD, registered under Ground Floor, The Southebay Building, Rodney Village, Rodney Bay, Gros- Islet, Saint Lucia with Registration Number Reg.2025-00014 (hereinafter referred to as “Skyriiss”). Margin trading involves trades based on the price movements of underlying financial products and is settled based on the difference between the opening and closing prices of the trade.

Foreign exchange (forex, FX) and Contracts for Difference (CFDs) on currencies, commodities, indices, or equities are all margin-traded products that inherently carry high risks and may not be suitable for all investors.

Before opening an account with Skyriiss, you should carefully consider your investment objectives, financial situation, relevant experience, and understanding of trading. You must ensure that you can manage the risks involved and sustain potential losses.

Acknowledgment of Risk By opening an account with Skyriiss, you acknowledge that you fully understand the risks involved in margin trading and agree to proceed with full knowledge of potential outcomes. Trading is inherently risky, and profits are not guaranteed. You are solely responsible for your trading decisions and outcomes.

You should only trade with capital you can afford to lose. Skyriiss recommends seeking advice from an independent financial advisor before trading. Leverage allows you to execute large trades by investing a relatively small amount as margin. While leverage can amplify profits if the market moves in your favor, even a small unfavorable movement can result in substantial losses. In such cases, you may be required to deposit additional funds immediately to keep your positions open. Note that you are liable for any losses incurred if your positions are closed.

Please be aware that not all trades can be opened or closed 24 hours a day. Your orders/positions are based on our prices and not those of any exchange. Our prices are typically derived from exchange prices but may fluctuate due to various factors.

Risks of Online Trading There are inherent risks associated with online trading systems, including, but not limited to, software and hardware failures and internet connectivity issues. Skyriiss does not control signal power, internet reception or routing, equipment configuration, or the reliability of your internet connection. Consequently, we cannot be held responsible for communication failures, distortions, or delays when trading via the internet.

Data Privacy Risks Trading through online platforms involves risks related to data privacy and cybersecurity. Unauthorized access to your trading account or personal information due to cyberattacks or breaches can result in financial losses or misuse of your data. Skyriiss takes reasonable measures to ensure data security but cannot guarantee absolute protection against all threats. We recommend that you use strong passwords and maintain robust security practices to safeguard your account.

Market Volatility and Systemic Risks Market conditions can lead to significant price fluctuations that may impact your trades. Additionally, systemic risks, including economic downturns or major political events, can adversely affect the market. Skyriss does not guarantee the accuracy or availability of prices or market data at all times.

The content of our website and trading platform is provided for informational purposes only and does not constitute investment advice. While Skyriss has taken reasonable measures to ensure the accuracy of the information presented, we cannot guarantee its accuracy. We accept no liability for losses or damages resulting from reliance on this information or from your inability to access our services.

Independent Decision-Making Any opinions, research, analyses, or other information provided on our platform or by our representatives are intended as general market commentary and should not be considered investment advice. Skyriss encourages traders to make independent decisions based on their own analysis and understanding of the market.

Skyriss does not accept any liability for losses or damages, including, but not limited to, loss of profit, arising directly or indirectly from the use of or reliance on the information provided.

If you have any questions about the risks associated with trading, please contact our support team for assistance.